(PRWEB) March 16, 2005 -- PRWEB) March 16, 2005 -- www.quotation.co.uk are trying to take some of the tedium and time wasting out of obtaining cheap car insurance quotes by indicating a premium after answering 6 questions.

www.quotation.co.uk have launched a web site that offers indicative car insurance quotations after answering 6 questions. If you like the offer you can telephone them or complete a more detailed form to have the quote confirmed. You can buy your insurance policy online using a credit card or if you require, monthly instalments are also available. Simply log on to the web site www.quotation.co.uk, answer the 6 basic questions and the system will generate a quotation for your insurance.

The good idea behind the web site is that the quotations are obtained from a panel of insurers not just one. This should help to ensure that competitive premiums are obtained. The whole site is designed to save the customer money; Insurance Services is backed by a market-beating panel of insurers where competitive rates have been negotiated on behalf of customers. At the present moment, the panel comprises leading insurers such as Norwich Union, Allianz Cornhill, Equity Redstar and Royal & Sun Alliance.

Bob Andrews a spokesperson for www.quotation.co.uk stated "Most people find obtaining motor insurance quotes tedious and time consuming, the main problem is you often have to sit on the phone for quite a while only to find that the premium offered is no better than your existing quote. This is very frustrating and because of this, a lot people simply do not bother to shop around.

Our website is fully interactive and you can complete the whole process without having to speak to anyone, if after you've answered the six questions the offer you looks competitive- simply complete the remaining questions online or telephone the number provided. For customers who prefer to talk to someone, (and quite a few deal still do) there is a telephone number provided and trained operators are available to assist with answering any questions.

It really is very simple; why not give it a try, perhaps you're only 6 questions away from obtaining that motor insurance deal you are looking for.

Quotation.co.uk is only available for persons requiring motor insurance in the United Kingdom. Quotation.co.uk is owned and operated by The Archway Insurance Group who are authorised & regulated by the Financial Services Authority number 311306.
