

Swamp Buggy Races Attract Thousands Lemon Tree Inn Offers Â Swamp SpecialÂ Starting as Low as $89

Every January, March and October, the world-famous "SwampBuggy" races are held on a very wet racetrack just southeast of Naples, Florida. Odd as the sport is, thousands of fans come to see these peculiar vehicles speed and struggle through the mud. To welcome the race fans and the curious traveler, Lemon Tree Inn, a 34-room boutique hotel in Naples, is offering a special Â Swamp SpecialÂ with rates October starting at $89 per night on Swamp Buggy race weekends.

(PRWEB) May 8, 2005 -- Every January, March and October, the world-famous "Swamp Buggy" races are held on a very wet racetrack just southeast of Naples, Florida. Odd as the sport is, thousands of fans come to see these peculiar vehicles speed and struggle through the mud. To welcome the race fans and the curious traveler, Lemon Tree Inn, a 34-room boutique hotel in Naples, is offering a special Â Swamp SpecialÂ with rates October starting at $89 per night on Swamp Buggy race weekends. Â The races began in the 1940Âs when hunters customized their vehicles to get through the wet, muddy marshes,Â said Sid Kalmans of Lemon Tree Inn. Â Back then the races started the hunting season. Today, itÂs a way to preserve a bit of history and have some fun.Â

The three-race series, held at Florida Sports Park, started with the Winter Classic, which was held in January and another series in March. The next race dates are October 29 & 30, 2005. A special VIP package, available at the Florida Sports Park, is available for $50.00 that includes: 1 Saturday admission, 1 Saturday night dance, 1 general admission ticket to the Sunday race, (Sunday only free buffet, free soft drinks, free beer, VIP grandstand seating & Pre-race pit tour).
