Newport News, VA (PRWEB) May 18, 2005 Langley Speedway will resume its racing program Saturday night after a week off for the Richmond race weekend. Hudson Hall will be looking for his third consecutive TOP 10 finish. Hall will be making his fifth start this season in the LATE MODEL division. $\hat{A} \Box$ Its been great to get back in the drivers seat, $\hat{A} \Box$ Hall stated. $\hat{A} \Box$ After a two year hiatus, we came back to Langley in its top division and we have continue to look forward to the incredible racing action here. $\hat{A} \Box$
Hall currently leads the Rookie points and sits seventh in the Late Model Division points. $\hat{A} \square$ We have a long road a head of us, we have been working hard in the shop and on the track to continue our climb to the top, $\hat{A} \square$ Hall said, $\hat{A} \square$ We would love a win, but at this time we want to focus on finishing races in the top 10 every week. $\hat{A} \square$
Several postings on racerap.com and a lot of talk throughout the regional racing community has prompted Hudson Hall to develop a strategic plan of action. $\hat{A} \Box I$ had a lot of questions being asked of my future in racing, $\hat{A} \Box$ stated Hall $\hat{A} \Box$ at this time we are considering several options with a few teams. I received offers from a late model and Hooters Pro Cup stand point but being so early in the year we aren $\hat{A} \Box$ t committing to anything yet. $\hat{A} \Box$ Hudson Hall will continue to accept offers from teams and potential sponsors throughout the year. The team is set to launch their website on June 1st.
