

New Audio Show for Trucking - The Next American SuperStar

The heart of every show is the Next American SuperStar music contest, featuring eight beautiful young country singers.

(PRWEB) June 22, 2005 -- The hottest new audio show in trucking, Next American SuperStar, will soon be available free at your favorite truckstop or rest area. Co-sponsored by Big Rig Owner magazine, TripPak Services, and The Dave Nemo Show, Next American SuperStar is 60 minutes of pure entertainment, featuring comedy and great original music. The heart of every show is the Next American SuperStar music contest, featuring eight beautiful young country singers. The contestants are vying for a cash prize, plus the professional services of Los Angeles-based producer Todd Chapman and Nashville-based voice coach Renee Grant-Williams.

The Next American SuperStar program will be available on a free CD that will be included with Big Rig Owner magazine each month through December. If you do not have the CD, the program will also be featured as a free service on the IdleAire channel from their service module, where you can view pictures of the contestants and listen to their original music. Then you can link to the show's website, www.nextamericansuperstar.com, where you can vote for your favorite contestant. You can also cast your vote with a special Next American SuperStar voting ballot found in each issue of Big Rig Owner. Just complete the ballot and drop it in any TripPak box nationwide. That's right; YOUR vote will help determine the winner.

All of the contestants need your support and want as much exposure as possible to land a recording contract. Remember, your vote counts. So, select your favorite and vote each month for the Next American SuperStar.
