

Batman Classic TV Series Batmobile Headed To Pittsburgh Toy Show!

Pennsylvania's Largest Toy Show to display a full size replica of the Batmobile from the Classic 1960's television series Batman during two day show July 30-31, 2005.

Pittsburgh, PA (PRWEB) June 27, 2005 -- Orangestone Promotions, Inc., promoters of Pennsylvania's Largest Toy Show have announced that at its upcoming toy show scheduled for July 30-31, 2005 a full size replica of the Batmobile from the Classic 1960's Television Series Batman will be on display. Show promoter Dominic Alessandria stated that "we are very excited to have the 1966 replica at our Toy Show". Mr. Alessandria goes on to say that "thousands of attendees will get a first ever look at this wonderful piece of Classic TV Batman history." Show attendees will be able to have their photo taken while they sit in the Batmobile for a small fee. The Batmobile is being transported from North Carolina to the Expomart in Monroeville, Pennsylvania and will be on display for ONLY 2 DAYS. For additional details go to www.pittsburghtoyshow.com

LOST YOUR TOY? Created 16 years ago as the place where people could go to find toys they played with as a child but lost when they got older, the Pittsburgh Toy, Comic & Childhood Collectibles Show continues to deliver on its original promise. Thousands will be able to find a massive selection of New and Vintage Toys, Action Figures, Gold, Silver & Modern Age Comic Books, Anime, Sci-Fi, Diecast, Hot Wheels, Dolls, Barbie, G.I. Joe, Godzilla, Mego and much more. It is important to mention that the show promoters still keep a strong focus on raising some money for the American Cancer Society. No two shows are ever the same as every event brings in different vendors from throughout the United States and other countries.

The serious collector has been especially pleased by a special Early Buyer Event. This allows the collectors a chance to buy before the general admission customers enters the show. While the toy show is scheduled 10am-4pm both days, the hardcore collector can get in during this Early Buyer Event on Saturday morning from 8am-10am. The Early Buyer Event includes All Day Admission. Special promotion during July Show : 1,000 Star Wars action figures given away FREE during Early Buyer Event! Photos of recent events are available at www.pittsburghtoyshow.com Additionally, collectors wishing to receive a postcard reminder a few weeks before future events can join the show's mailing list at the same website location.
