Los Angeles, CA (PRWEB) June 29, 2005 -- With a heritage deeply rooted in a successful Monte Carlo Rally racing program of yesteryear, TEAMMIGHTYMINIZ and the MINI Cooper are continuing the tradition of underdog motorsports with an onslaught of track and canyon driving, coming directly to your TV set on SPEED network's newest series, Street Tuner Challenge.

In the premiere episode of this series, airing June 29, 2005 at 7:30 PM on SPEED, Street Tuner Challenge follows TEAMMIGHTYMINIZ to Buttonwillow Raceway for an inaugural time trial event, the MINI Challenge hosted by Redline Track events. Watch as the MINI community's top driving group compete feverishly for top position, with drivers ranging from amateurs to seasoned track veterans. Will a spin at the final turn end in disaster?

Having not gotten enough at the track, Was Productions followed the TEAM through the winding mountain roads of Southern California, for a spirited romp on what are arguably some of the most technical, treacherous roads in North America. Get a close look into impeccably tuned machines and the newest generation of motorsports enthusiasts who pilot them on July 6, 2005 at 7:30 PM on SPEED.

About TEAMMIGHTYMINIZ - Beginning deep in the winding canyon roads of Southern California, TEAMMIGHTYMINIZ is a tight-knit group of MINI-obsessed automotive enthusiasts, with members spanning the globe from California to the East Coast to Belgium and beyond. From show, to canyon driving, autocross, and road racing, TEAMMIGHTYMINIZ encompasses the epitome of front-wheel-drive performance and style.

High performance. High style. Low brow. TEAMMIGHTYMINIZ.
