

Glenwood Driving School Opens Frankfort Branch

Illinois Secretary of State issues license for Glenwood Driving School to open new branch office in Frankfort.

Frankfort, IL (PRWEB) July 12, 2005 -- The Commercial Driver Training Section granted a branch license to Glenwood Driving School to open its new office and classroom in Frankfort. The new branch at Frankfort Place is located at 301 White Street, Suite D, in Frankfort (815) 464-9001.

An inspector from the Driver Training Section ensured that an updated curriculum was in place, current best teaching methods are employed, and technology is integrated within instruction.

Glenwood Driving School offers classroom instruction and behind-the-wheel driver training for teens and adults. Classes form every few weeks to accommodate any schedule.

The new Frankfort location also offers the TeenSMART crash reduction program which has been proven to reduce teen crash rates by 30%. "Our aim is to reduce, as much as possible, the senseless death and injury among the highest risk group--teen drivers," says Glenwood Driving School vice-president, Leon Garrison.
