

World Patent Marketing Invention Team Presents Mobile G, An Electronic Invention That Allows People To Watch Videos On Long Road Trips

World Patent Marketing Reviews A New Electronic Invention. Will Mobile G Be the Next World Patent Marketing Low Cost Success Story?

Miami, FL (PRWEB) December 01, 2016 -- World Patent Marketing, a vertically integrated manufacturer and engineer of patented products, introduces Mobile G, an electronic invention that allows people to watch videos in the car.

“The consumer electronics industry is worth $224 billion,” says Scott Cooper, CEO and Creative Director of World Patent Marketing. “One of the strongest trends driving this industry right now is convergence, the combining of multiple types of devices.”

“Certain car rides can get pretty long and people become restless and bored,” says Jerry Shapiro, Director of Manufacturing and World Patent Marketing Inventions. “One of the best ways to solve this is with some entertainment, but most cars aren’t equipped with anything of the sort. This electronic invention will help keep people busy during long car rides.”

Mobile G is an electronic invention that allows people to be more comfortable during road trips. This invention consists of a tablet that can be hooked up to the car and used similarly to a portable television. This tablet is equipped with wifi and has access to a wide array of online movies and channels to keep the passengers busy on the ride. It can even be removed from the car and used in the house or anywhere else as a portable video player. Now there is no more need to carry cumbersome DVDs and Blu-ray discs and worry about switching them out in the middle of the drive. Mobile G gives people an easy way to play videos from anywhere while on a long trip.

“I used to spend time and money trying to find some entertainment for my children for our scheduled road trip,” says inventor Apelete T. “Don’t spend that time and money going from store to store searching for the perfect entertainment for the road trip. No more changing DVDs while driving. No more worries about kids or passengers getting bored on the road.”

Mobile G is an electronic invention that equips cars with a wifi-enabled tablet that can be used to entertain passengers on the ride with online videos and television channels.
