

World Patent Marketing Success Team Presents The Repair Monitor, An Automotive App Invention That Helps People Keep Track Of Their Car Repair

World Patent Marketing Reviews A New Automotive App Invention. Will Repair Monitor Be the Next World Patent Marketing Low Cost Success Story?

Miami, FL (PRWEB) December 09, 2016 -- World Patent Marketing, a vertically integrated manufacturer and engineer of patented products, introduces the Repair Monitor, an automotive app invention that allows people to keep track of their vehicle while it's in repair.

"The mobile app industry is worth $51 billion," says Scott Cooper, CEO and Creative Director of World Patent Marketing. "As smartphones become an increasingly important part of our everyday lives, more people are starting to adopt them and this industry is growing at a phenomenal rate."

"Having to take your car to the shop is extremely frustrating, but what's even more frustrating is not knowing when you'll get it back," says Jerry Shapiro, Director of Manufacturing and World Patent Marketing Inventions. "This automotive app invention prevents people from being in the dark about their car repair."

Repair Monitor is an automotive app invention that allows the user to monitor their car while it is being fixed. Being without a vehicle can be stressful, especially for people who have busy lifestyles and rely on the car to get around. This invention was created to allow people to closely monitor their car while it's being repaired so they can be informed about how long it will take and plan their schedule accordingly. Any time the dealer starts or completes a part of the repair, the user will receive a notification informing them of what's been done and when the vehicle is expected to be complete. The app will inform the user as soon as repairs are complete so they don't have to wait around for a call. They can go pick it up as soon as possible. The Repair Monitor will help people ensure that they are not inconvenienced by their vehicle being in the shop.

"One day, I finally became fed up with the difficulty in something so simple as trying to find out when your car repair will be completed and the vehicle can be picked up," says inventor Gregory B. "This automotive app will help anyone who has ever needed to leave their vehicle for any work. Because the app allows you to monitor the progress of the work, it will allow you to plan your schedule until the car is ready. We live in a fast-paced world, where we get upset if our hamburger is not ready when we arrive at the drive through window. Why should we be uninformed and blind by the inability to know when our precious mode of transportation can take us to work, school, or home? It doesn't have to be such a guessing game."

The Repair monitor is an automotive app invention that keeps people informed on the state of their vehicle while it's in the shop. This allows them to plan their schedule accordingly.
