

No Need To Ban Cell Phones While Driving With World Patent Marketing's New Electronic Invention, Timeout

World Patent Marketing Reviews A New Electronic Invention. Will Timeout Be the Next World Patent Marketing Low Cost Success Story?

Miami, FL (PRWEB) December 24, 2016 -- World Patent Marketing, a vertically integrated manufacturer and engineer of patented products, introduces Timeout, an electronic invention that prevents people from texting while driving.

“The car safety systems industry is worth $94 billion,” says Scott Cooper, CEO and Creative Director of World Patent Marketing. “Increasing technology as well as a demand for new and better features have led to growth in this industry.”

“Since the advent of the internet and the rise of mobile devices, people are always on their phones,” says Jerry Shapiro, Director of Manufacturing and World Patent Marketing Inventions. “This can be a huge problem when people are driving as it can take people's eyes off the road and cause accidents. This electronic invention was designed to prevent that scenario.”

Timeout is an electronic invention that puts safety over entertainment. As cell phones have grown to be a huge part of people's lives, there are some that can't pull themselves away. This is fine most of the time but can be fatal while behind the wheel of a car. Simply sending someone a message or checking a new social media post can pull the driver's attention away from the road long enough to cause an accident. This invention was designed to keep the driver away from their phone with their eyes on the road. It is a device that is attached to the car's steering wheel that prevents phones from functioning as long as they are in the vicinity. The only way to get the phone working properly again is to move it away from the steering wheel, which means the driver cannot use it. Now the driver can focus completely on the road and only use their phone once they get to their destination safely. Timeout will help prevent car accidents from negligent drivers.

"Take time out from your cell phone. Arrive alive," says inventor John P.

Timeout is an electronic invention that keeps people safe on the road by not allowing drivers to text inside a car. This will ensure that they are attentive and help prevent accidents.
