

AA Auto Protection Closes the Book on PA Attorney General Case

AA Auto Protection settles lawsuit with Pennsylvania Attorney General's office. The suit was originally filed by former Pennsylvania Attorney General Kathleen Kane in 2015.

PHILADELPHIA (PRWEB) October 20, 2017 -- AA Auto Protection has settled an existing lawsuit with the Pennsylvania Attorney General's office. This suit (Case # 2015-03400-43 in the Court of Common Pleas Bucks County, Pennsylvania) originated back in 2015 and was started by Attorney General Kathleen Kane.

"We want to thank Attorney General Josh Shapiro for his efforts to work with us and resolve this matter as quickly as possible," stated Daniel Rorapaugh, owner of AA Auto Protection. "It's great to know that we can put the suit behind us and continue helping our customers to avoid costly auto repair expenses."

AA Auto Protection stands by its original claim that this suit lacked merit and in no way admits any guilt in this matter. "There comes a time when you have to make hard decisions for the greater financial good of the company. This settlement was one of those times. It pains me to not see this through to the end, so the taxpayers of Pennsylvania could see this for what it truly was but it simply didn't make financial sense," said Rorapaugh.

Inside the final agreement you will find the following:

"Defendants timely filed their Answer to the Complaint denying all allegations of wrongdoing as specifically noted in said Answer, with said denials being incorporated herein by reference."

Now that the lawsuit has been settled, AA Auto Protection is working diligently to educate their customers on the true facts involved in this case. They remain committed to providing excellent and honest service to consumers.

For more information about AA Auto Protection, visit <https://www.aaautowarranty.com/>.

About AA Auto Protection

AA Auto Protection and parent company Ivy League International are vehicle service contract brokers who are dedicated to helping their customers obtain the highest possible level of coverage within their budget. The company originated in 1989 and is highly committed to providing honest and fair service to consumers. To this day, they are one of the few companies that work directly with consumers online to protect them from unexpected and often expensive auto repair costs.

Contact: James Fortino

Company: AA Auto Protection

Address: 1515 Market Street #528, Philadelphia, PA 19102

Phone: 1-888-222-444t=5

Email: jfortino\(at\)aaautoprotection\(dot\)com

URL: <https://www.aaautowarranty.com/>

Contact Information

James Fortino

AA AutoProtection

<http://www.bike-ride-a-thon.com>

+1 (888) 222-4445 Ext: 175

Online Web 2.0 Version

You can read the online version of this press release here.