(PRWEB) July 20, 2005 -- A newly created website, <http://www.AutoTransportAide.com>, is designed solely to provide accurate and useful information for transporting your beloved vehicle across the nation or around the world. Moving has become part of the American way of life. Whether it's to obtain a better job, accomodate a new marriage, or just a desire to change scenery or climate, you need to find companies that can move your valuable possessions, including your automobile safely and economically. For reliable advice and tips on finding the most competent and affordable auto transport services, check out this site.

You've finally got the car of your dreams. Perhaps you bought it an at an auction or from an online dealership out of state. Maybe a family member left you the prize in the will. Or maybe it's a personal move and your second (or third) car or family heirloom, the '57 Chevy, needs to find a way to a new locale. There are a variety of reasons to hire an auto transport specialist.

When you hire an auto transport company, always obtain a written and signed contract that describes the terms and conditions of your move--particularly your insurance. Many auto transport companies will move your vehicle within the United States and there are some that can transport internationally if that is your desire.

Finding a reliable company to move your car may take some time, but it is worth the effort since they are transporting a piece of your property for which you probably paid a lot of money or have a deep attachment. An excellent place to begin your move is by visiting <http://www.AutoTransportAide.com>
