Sumner, MI (PRWEB) December 10, 2005 -- Organizers Dubai World Trade Centre (DWTC) announced that luxury automobile manufacturers, designers, modifiers and tuners will be offering the audience a spectacular display of cars that have never been seen in the Middle East before.

Visitors to the 8th Middle East International Motor Show will find that just one day is just simply not enough. The show is scheduled to take place at the Dubai International Convention and Exhibition Centre from December 12 to 16, 2005.

The Dubai Motor Show will showcase for the first time in the Middle East, new names like Apollo from Gumpert, Fornasari, Funke & Will, Erebuni, Bufori, Rinspeed, Pagani-Zonda, Mansory, JE-Design, ART, Spykercar, Coachwest Luxury, DC Design, Ligier, PGO, Rijck, Cargraphic, Carlsson, Hartge, Overfinch, Hamann, Techart, Arden, Novitec, Brabus, Fab Design, MKB, MTM, Al Capri and K Design.

The bold display of style, design and technology by some of the leading names in the world are bound to leave any motor enthusiast in awe.

“The Dubai Motor Show this year will also feature a dedicated hall for tuners, designers and modifiers. This has been a complete sell-out from the very beginning indicating the strength of this growing industry segment. Moreover, it demonstrates the confidence international manufacturers have in Dubai, as a platform to launch and market their vehicles to the region,” said DWTC Director General, Helal Saeed Khalfan Al Marri.

The huge popularity of the Dubai Motor Show underlines the importance of the emirate and its crucial position in the world automobile industry.

The exhibition provides buyers, car enthusiasts and amateur admirers with the opportunity to marvel at the single largest display of vehicles in the Middle East that will include concept cars, prototypes, luxury vehicles, 4 wheel drives, sports utility vehicles, F1 cars, custom built vehicles, high performance cars, saloons, retros, bikes, trikes, quads, off-terrain buggies, commercial vehicles as well as motor parts, accessories and a host of automotive related products and services.
