TNT Super Series - Trailer Shop / ERD Race of Champions Qualifying Heats Up

Only four chances remain to get in to prestigious Labour Day weekend event!

CANFIELD, ONTARIO (August 4, 2011) There's only one way to get in to the Trailer Shop / ERD Race of Champions (ROC) – and that is to be an event winner in the Joe's Transmission TNT Super Series.

There have been 44 TNTSS races since the series began in 2006 and so far, there have been 21 different winners with two new additions already this year.

The first event of its kind for the TNTSS, the Trailer Shop / ERD Race of Champions will put event winner against event winner in a classic Saturday night drag racing shootout.

“This series produces some of the toughest sportsman racers in the country,” said Carl Spiering of The Trailer Shop and ERD. “Just look at their success on the national playing field. That’s why we’re involved in the ROC. It will showcase the best of the best.”

The ROC will pay $1200 to the winner and $600 to the runner-up with free entry for the qualifiers.

There will also be no qualifying sessions. The ROC field will be set based on most TNTSS wins with ties broken by most runner-ups then most overall TNTSS points earned.

“You need to bring you’re A game to this race,” added Carl. “This deal is all or nothing.”

There are only four remaining opportunities to get in to the ROC....The upcoming double weekend at St Thomas Raceway Park which includes completion of the May 21st Cayuga Race plus the race on Saturday Sept 3rd just before the ROC at Cayuga Dragway.

Next stop on the 2011 Joe's Transmission TNT Super Series schedule is the double race weekend at St Thomas Raceway Park in Sparta, Ontario. Visit www.tntsuperseries.com for full event information.
