

Dodge Transmissions for Pickups Now Discounted Online at RebuiltTransmissionsforSale.com

Dodge transmissions for pickups are now discounted online courtesy of the RebuiltTransmissionsforSale.com website. This company now has special pricing for its Dodge lineup of gearboxes that are in stock to help reduce the price of replacing these units in pickups.

Seattle, Washington (PRWEB) January 03, 2013 -- The RebuiltTransmissionsforSale.com company has made new updates to its inventory online. The newest update is the inclusion of Dodge transmissions for the pickup series. More information can be found at <http://www.rebuilttransmissionsforsale.com/dodge-transmissions/dodge-rebuilt-transmissions-sale>.

These reconditioned gearboxes are designed to fit the Dakota and other brands in the Dodge lineup. These units are now sold for a special price to truck owners or companies that purchase to make replacements or sales to third parties.

Chrysler invests heavily into its Dodge brand to ensure that the vehicles can compete with rivals Ford and Chevrolet. From the engine development to other internal parts, the manufacturing that is put into this brand has helped secure consumer confidence in all vehicles that are produced.

The rebuilt units that are now in stock are designed to fit into the truck and SUV series. These units are disassembled and assembled by hand during the rebuilding phase.

One of the expenses that automobile owners can have during ownership of a vehicle is repair or replacement of the transmission. Unlike the engine and other components, no alarms or signals are offered for a transmissions that is slipping or not functioning properly. A diagnosis by a trained mechanic is usually how vehicle owners find out that a problem exists.

Preowned vehicle owners that use pickup trucks with high mileage now have a way to reduce the cost of a replacement. The new in stock inventory at the RebuiltTransmissionsforSale.com company comes complete with a full warranty.

To go with the new additions to the company inventory, a brand new search system has been enabled on the company website. This search system allows searching by category to help buyers to select an appropriate transmission. When a match is located, the installed quotation system can help generate an accurate price. This method was added to the website to provide a secondary option aside from telephone quotations. This quote system can be accessed before, during and after business hours have ended.

Apart from the Dodge additions to the company inventory, both Ford and Chevrolet inventories have been increased since November 2012. The company website now provides one of the largest resources online to find pickup truck transmissions at reduced pricing. The news announcement for phase one of these upgrades can be found at <http://www.seattlepi.com/business/press-releases/article/Chevy-Four-Speed-Transmissions-Now-Discounted-for-4147902.php>.

About Rebuilt Transmissions for Sale

The Rebuilt Transmissions for Sale company relaunched its website in 2012 and has made more inventory improvements to help customers. One of the unique business models that this company provides is direct sales to the public. Vehicle owners and those that represent automotive businesses can access the company inventory and place orders online or offline. The Rebuilt Transmissions for Sale company has innovated its inventory by offering discounted pricing and same day shipments for all orders. This company now provides one of the largest resources that can be found online for automatic and manual automotive transmissions.

Contact Information

Kevin Williams

Rebuilt Transmissions for Sale

<http://www.rebuilttransmissionsforsale.com>

(877) 630-3874

Online Web 2.0 Version

You can read the online version of this press release here.