

Used 1998 Dodge Ram 1500 Transmission Now for Sale at Preowned Transmissions Company Website

Used 1998 Dodge Ram 1500 transmission is now for sale online at the PreownedTransmissions.com company website. These gearboxes have been acquired with low mileage and are shipping in the U.S.

Tyler, TX (PRWEB) January 04, 2014 -- The Dodge Ram trucks produced by Chrysler from 1993 to 2002 featured the now outdated Magnum engine in the U.S. market. Parts for this truck series on the second hand market are now sold by the Preowned Transmissions company online. This company is now offering used 1998 Dodge Ram 1500 transmission inventory at <http://preownedtransmissions.com>.

The arrival of these transmission replacements in used condition is part of the truck inventory changes announced at the end of last year. The Ram gearboxes are now offered in four-speed and five-speed builds for buyers. The 42RH and 46RH automatic editions as well as the NV series manual builds are now featured in the online inventory promoted online for buyers.

The increases in the truck gearbox inventory currently promoted online has helped to introduce consumers to the variance in inventory that is now supplied on the second hand market. The Preowned Transmissions company has included new distributors that specialize in the second hand parts market to supply its current inventory.

"The Ram automatic and manual transmissions now for sale represent one portion of the original Chrysler inventory now available for North American sale online," said a source at the PreownedTransmissions.com company.

One change that was included last year and is now present in the 2014 inventory is the three-year warranties now provided with each used gearbox sold. The Dodge Ram inventory now announced is eligible for this 36-month protection policy at the time of purchase. This extra coverage amount is enabled for all levels of buyers using the company website to process orders.

"The new protection levels that are provided with the inventory that we're marketing online is expected to attract more buyers interested in long-term usage of used transmissions," the source confirmed.

The PreownedTransmissions.com company website research system online is updated with the automatic and manual edition Dodge Ram transmissions. Additional units that are in stock and promoted in the U.S. market can be found using this immediate search tool online.

Quotations for prices are offered as an optional benefit to transmission buyers using this automated research locator. No customer information, transmission codes or vehicle information is required when accessing this public tool.

About PreownedTransmissions.com

The PreownedTransmissions.com company is supporting American consumers by helping to discount replacement transmission inventory online. This company uses a supply network of agencies to acquire used gearboxes that are for replacement in foreign and American vehicles. The PreownedTransmissions.com company website provides immediate quotations in price for any gearbox that is in stock and shippable within the United States. The limited warranty protection offered with each unit for sale was created by company management as an extra assurance value for each used gearbox buyer online or offline.
