

MoveNetwork.com Has Launched a New and Convenient Option for Its Customers – Self Service Moving

MoveNetwork.com assures a safe and affordable moving experience with the inauguration of their new self service option.

(PRWEB) January 06, 2014 -- MoveNetwork.com understands budget is one of the biggest factors while selecting a moving company. The organization has tried to make an honest effort by offering cost effective moving options on their newly introduced online platform. Customers, who have to move quite frequently because of their job or move once in a lifetime, can visit their site to find affordable self service moving options. Self serving moving is definitely an affordable choice for customers who can't afford a full service moving company. MoveNetwork.com has started their new online service that will now help customers reach the most reputable self service moving facility providers in the country.

Self service moving does not involve a lot of man power. As a result, the cost of labor is reduced. This moving option definitely saves a lot of money. MoveNetwork.com has tried to help customers by providing the list of companies who are famous for their quality work in the self service moving sector. The moving company has a database of movers that includes details of most preferred customers in the country. They pre-screen the moving companies before making them a part of their network. Any customers who want to reduce cost of moving can visit the site of MoveNetwork.com for finding reliable self service moving options.

Apart from helping customers with the database of movers, the online platform launched by <http://www.MoveNetwork.com> also explains the pros and cons of a self service moving option. According to the company top management, the organization has appointed its team of the most experienced professionals to design the information guide. The professionals with extensive moving experience and background have put their knowledge and skill together to design and develop the guide. Self service moving is a good option especially for a household move.

MoveNetwork.com assures a safe moving experience as the company only lists skilled and experienced companies on their database. The company is aware of all types of moving hassles that customers go through when they get stuck with a bad service provider. MoveNetwork.com has therefore made an attempt to help customers with the information from only the most authentic movers and a moving guide for their customers. Customers will enjoy freedom and can take their time in choosing the mover they think is right for them.

Contact Information

Roy Alvarez

Move Network

<http://movenetwork.com/>

+1 5614447195

Online Web 2.0 Version

You can read the online version of this press release here.