

2006 Chevy Impala Used Transmission Acquired for Sale in Automatic GM Builds Inventory at Top Transmissions Website

2006 Chevy Impala used transmission is now acquired for retail sale at the Got Transmissions company. These builds are now entered in the available GM inventory for domestic shipments.

San Jose, CA (PRWEB) January 05, 2014 -- The Chevrolet Impala is one of the vehicles from the General Motors company that has been in production for more than 50 years. Replacement transmission units that fit into this vehicle series have been acquired by the Got Transmissions company. This company is offering used 2006 Chevy Impala transmission units for sale at <http://www.gottransmissions.com/blog/chevy-transmissions/chevy-impala-transmissions-sale>.

The 4T65E gearbox series first produced in 1997 are the type of units that are now available for the 2002 to 2003 Impala vehicles. These units were designed specifically as electronically controlled units to work with the 3.4 and 3.8 V6 engines. The acquisition of these used condition assemblies is meant to satisfy the current demand for replacement units online.

Several changes have been completed in the GM inventory at the Got Transmissions company over the past 12 months. The inclusion of the used 4T65E gearboxes is now completing the acquisition efforts for more modern units that are for sale online. The existing inventory includes most manual units used between 1980 and 2012.

"The Impala is one of the respected vehicles produced by GM and continues to sell well in the U.S. market," one source said at the GotTransmissions.com company.

One change that buyers using the Got Transmissions company in 2014 will recognize online is the enhanced level of warranty protection that is attached with each sale. A level of up to three years is currently provided at the time of sale to protect any manual or automatic controlled gearbox from manufacturer defects or parts failures.

"Transmissions from General Motors that are offered as used units in our inventory are eligible for the new policies for warranties that we're now providing in the USA," the source added.

The modified research systems now used on the GotTransmissions.com company website have been updated to include the 4T65E transmissions currently available for sale. Buyers who are interested in these units or existing GM inventory available for U.S. shipments can use the research locator to find pricing and current stock status online.

About GotTransmissions.com

The GotTransmissions.com company supplies replacement transmissions that are in used condition to buyers within the United States. This company continues to support consumers with discount pricing and services like free shipping for all transmissions for sale. The GotTransmissions.com company website includes quotation tools to explore pricing and warranty options that are packaged with each gearbox found in the company inventory. The rapid shipping and other solutions this company provides offers one of the most reliable resources for consumers to find used condition auto parts online.

Contact Information

Laurence Davidson

GotTransmissions.com

<http://www.gottransmissions.com>

+1 (904) 701-4550

Online Web 2.0 Version

You can read the online version of this press release here.